COMMENTS:

After graduating with a BA degree in history and political science from the University of Arizona in Tucson in 1961, I entered the University's College of Law and graduated with a JD degree in 1964. In my first year of law school, I met a California girl, Linda Wilkinson, who was in undergraduate school. Linda did me the great honor of becoming my wife shortly before we graduated, and we then moved to Phoenix where I entered the practiced law with a Phoenix law firm. Linda taught elementary school for three years, until the birth of our first children, twins Deana and Leah. Almost three years later our son, Gregory, was born. These three kids have brought us joy, pride and tons of fun. As a family, we cheered for them at swim meets and tennis and badminton tournaments and together we skied our pants off all over the world, including once in the Soviet Union. On one memorable occasion, old friend and classmate Robert (Dusky) Sandusky joined us in the Italian Alps for a week of skiing (and a little eating and drinking).

After our kids were older, Linda started teaching again (Special Ed) in Scottsdale, where we've lived for the last 38 years. She retired last year and is now available for baby sitting our three grandkids who live in Corvallis, OR, and our two grandkids in Vancouver, B.C. Their ages range from 4 to 10. Our son, who lives in Seattle, WA, gets equal time!

I continue to enjoy the practice of law, with emphasis on Estate Planning and representation of legal entities with generation passing issues.

I look forward to renewing friendships at the Reunion with the best and kindest bunch of classmates anyone could ask for.
